Appeals Total Here Stands At $106,537

Workers Must Get
$63,924 More for Victory by Thursday

United Appeals Goal $170,462.00
Reported to date 106,537.72
To Be Raised 63,924.28

With 62½ per cent of the goal reported in contributions and pledges at Monday night's second report meeting, workers in the 1953-54 Marion County United Appeals Campaign started out today to raise $63,924.28 to reach a goal of $170,462 by next Thursday night.

And if the spirit of the approximately 100 men and women at last night's meeting is a barometer, it will be a victory celebration at the meeting two days hence.

With all divisions reporting except the Manufacturers Council, subscriptions have reached the $106,537.72 mark.

Precinct Goals Achieved
While no division has reached its goal, several precincts in the residential canvass, where women are raking the doorbells, have reached their quota and a number see their quotas within reach.

Workers in Precinct D, Third Ward, where Mrs. Everett Frye is chairman, have made their quota of $212. Vernon Heights workers, with a quota of $300, have topped the figure by $324. Mrs. Ray Sutton is chairman in Vernon Heights.

Precinct C in the Fifth Ward, with Mrs. Richard Brandt heading the workers, has met its quota of $572.

Two wards, Five and Six, have their goals in sight. In the Sixth Ward, where Mrs. Walter Kelsey and Mrs. Joseph Scandling are the leaders, the saleswomen are within $200 of their goal of $2,855, and women of the Fifth Ward, with a quota of $1,708, are within $150 of their goal.

Closing in are saleswomen in Precinct C and E in Ward 2. Mrs. Robert Paulus is chairman for Precinct C, and Mrs. Charles Kuehler heads the workers in Precinct E.

Division Totals
Contributions of the Manufacturers Council stand at $14,800, figures reported a week ago. Other divisions to date are: (figures in parentheses represent quotas): Industry other than Manufacturers, $8,862.89, ($13,000); Industrial employees, $23,709.11, ($40,000); special gifts, $13,995.50, ($21,000); suburban business, $8,510.92, ($20,000); public employees, $2,759.97, ($3,100); clubs and organizations, $624.50.

Break Causes Drop in Water Pressure Here

A blown valve in the 24-inch water main leading to Marion caused a drop in regular water service in the city early this morning.

L. Otis Porter, Marion Water Co. manager, said the break occurred at 4:15 a.m., about 1,000 feet from the company's pumping plant, northwest of the city. By 5:15, he said, all valves but one had been closed to shift the water to one of the 16-inch mains leading to the city.

However, he added, a faulty valve, which could not be closed, forced the additional use of part of another 16-inch main, causing a lowering of pressure, which is still present.

The entire city is affected by the break. Porter said a preliminary investigation showed the leak was not too serious and could probably be repaired by 6 p.m. However, he added, there is the possibility of a break in the line itself, which would cause a longer delay in the repair.

After water company engineers had made the switch this morning from the 24-inch to the 16-inch main, water seemed to be flowing at normal rate. However, Porter said something happened somewhere in town which caused the flow to increase beyond normal rates.

Company officials are still trying to determine the cause for the jump in water use and the subsequent lowering of pressure.

BENSON SPEAKS TO CATTLEMAN. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson leans over for a word with Francis Roberts (left) of Wauchula, Fla., as he arrived for a meeting with 350 cattlemen in Washington. Seated beside Roberts is George B. Bader of McClure, Ill. C. H. Taylor of Wauchula is at right. Benson said he has an "open mind," but that a government support program for cattle prices would raise tremendous obstacles.

Price Support Pleas Rejected

Stockmen See Little Hope For Relief From Benson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders in the cattlemen's "caravan" held little hope today that Secretary of Agriculture Benson would yield to their pleas for immediate government guarantees on livestock prices.

Looking beyond their face-to-face encounters with Benson, however, they foresaw a heated fight over the issue when Congress reconvenes in January, and possibly growing support for their stand.

Congressmen Sensitive
Many congressmen, facing an election in 1954, already have taken note of signs of general disaffection among farmers.

About 350 cattlemen from 30 states, declaring they face disaster from falling cattle prices, converged on Washington by bus and car with Western-style hats and a few cowboy yells.

At a mass meeting with Benson yesterday, they talked calmly but bluntly of severe economic losses and predicted depression and distress in the cattle lands unless their action is taken promptly.

Benson told them his mind is open—but he also voiced misgivings about the workability of a cattle price support program.

The cattlemen promptly went back to another auditorium and unanimously passed a resolution urging government supports at least as high as 90 per cent of parity, a calculated price said by law to be fair to farmers in relation to their production and living costs.

Meet with Benson
A committee of cattlemen planned to present the resolution, along with arguments behind it, at a second meeting with Benson and his assistants today.

Senators Carlson (R-Kan.) and Hunt (D-Wyo.) told the cattlemen last night the situation is serious and calls for immediate government action.

James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, which sponsored the caravan, said in an interview Benson's talk yesterday "sounded to me like his mind is pretty well closed."

Reps Generalizations
But he said the fact that the cattlemen can present their facts directly to Benson will be helpful. He added he hoped the caravan would dramatize the issue for the nation and build support among lawmakers and the public.

In general for more aid to the livestock industry.

H. M. Boddy of Henrietta, Tex., said he was glad to get the facts.

Not Sound, He Says

Lausche Flays Proposed
Ohio Board of Education

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche has come out with a strong no on the state board of education issue.

Mrs. Lucy Ward Stahl of Portsmouth, Ohio, Lausche's letter asking his opinion on proposal to change Ohio's Constitution to provide such a board. The issue will come up for vote at the Nov. 3 elections.

Under the present system the state director of education is appointed by the governor. Under the proposed system, a superintendent of public instruction would be chosen by a state board of Education. If the change in constitution is approved, the next legislature would decide the size and method of selection of a state school board.

In condemning the move for a state board of education, the governor spoke against the board system. He said:

"In Ohio, that type of administration has been tried and abandoned. It is not sound."

In making his statement, Gov. Lausche commented "personal political expediency would probably be served better" if he remained silent.

Said the governor:

"Intermittently, agencies and organizations interested specially in some specific function of state government seek the establishment of boards to remove from the chief executive the responsibility of administering the particular function, and placing it in the hands of members of such boards."

He stated his belief that good government requires close "an-

Security Council Takes Up Bitter Issue Over Palestine

Talk Sense, Dean Warns Communists

Get Down to Business
On Korean Conference
Plans, Envoy Demands

PANMUNJOM (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Arthur Dean warned today that unless the Reds get down to business in planning the Korean peace talks they face the "onus of not having a political conference."

He made this statement to reporters after the second day of preliminary talks, in which both sides clung stubbornly to opposing designs for the conference and even how to plan it.

Reds Insistent
The Communists again demanded at the 2 hour and 22 minute session that nonbelligerent nations be invited to the peace talks and that the question be settled before anything else—time or place—is discussed.

Dean insisted that only those nations whose troops fought in Korea make the peace and urged the Reds to settle on a site and date for the conference. He warned:

"If we invite neutral nations, admirable though they may be, we may turn the political conference into an endless debating society."

"In the meantime, our troops face each other across an uneasy armistice."

He left an opening for the Communists to expound their views, later telling them that after all other arrangements are fixed "we can exchange views on other pertinent matters."

Third Meeting Set

Dean said afterwards he still feels the Communists do want the conference. It is too early, he said, to look for solid progress in the preliminary discussions. Another

Carey Resident Dies of Injuries In Auto Mishap

Special to The Star
UPPER SANDUSKY — Edward Brown, 35, of Carey, died at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Wadsworth Memorial Hospital of injuries suffered Sunday in a two-car crash about seven miles north of here.

Five other persons injured in the accident are listed in "poor" and "fair" condition at the hospital. A sixth, Jerry Hill, 18, of Syracuse, was released from the hospital Monday after treatment for a fractured right ankle.

Brown died of a punctured lung, fractured skull and compound fracture of the right leg.

Listed as "poor" is Frank Wilson, 45, of near Carey, who suffered head lacerations and possible internal injuries; Mrs. Frank Wilson, 23, of near Carey; Donald Carey, 20, of Kirby, dislocated hip, possible fractured pelvis; and Thurl Higgins, 18, of Kirby, and J. R. Holt, 17, of Syracuse, both in "fair" condition.

Brown and Wilson were passengers in the car driven by Mrs. Wilson. The collision occurred about 12:10 a.m. Sunday on Route 53, seven miles north of here, when the Wilson car, attempting a left turn into a driveway, was struck on the right side by the oncoming car driven by Donald Carey. The Wilson car overturned, and skidded about 58 feet into a pole, where Carey's car crashed into a ditch and burst into flames.

Funeral services for Mr. Brown will be held Friday at 9:30 a.m. at Our Lady of Consolation Church in Carey. Rev. Theodore Eickholt officiating. Burial will be at St. Mary Cemetery there. Friends may call at the residence after 7 p.m. Wednesday. The Bristol Funeral Home has charge of arrangements.

A truck driver, Mr. Brown was the son of Ed and Lotie Kruska. Brown was born April 3, 1918. Surviving in addition to his parents are two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Wunderlin of Hartford City, Ind., and Mrs. George Messmer of Carey.

AP NEWSMAN DIES
WASHINGTON (AP)—Edward E. Bomar, veteran member of The Associated Press staff, died today of cancer. He was 55.

Siffritt countered by saying the situation had existed since 1916 and no disaster had struck yet. He also referred to two reports he had made to council, one in 1949, the other in 1952, both calling for the addition of 10 firemen and the purchase of new equipment.

Siffritt said the Township truck was being used frequently to acquaint the men with its operation, and said the Mark St. station was

Council Buys
Lot for Sewage
Pumping Plant Ransom Probe

Marion City Council Monday night gave final authorization for the purchase of a lot at the southwest corner of E. Fairground and Jefferson Streets for the erection of a pumping plant to serve the Jefferson St. sanitary sewer improvement.

Present owner of the land is Fanny V. Ours Council approved the payment of $380 for the plot of land, the price asked by Cliff Ours, one of her sons.

Ours said the $380 figure was the total amount invested in the land, including purchase price, taxes, improvements, and interest on the money spent. Council member Don Quance, Fifth Ward, asked if Council should not increase the price to give Ours a small profit on his investment.

Conkle Objects
Councilman Louis B. Conkle, Fourth Ward, objected, however, saying Ours was in the position of any man facing condemnation of any man facing condemnation.

Approval of the expenditure ended a debate over which of two lots to buy and how much to pay. Council, at its last meeting had talked about the purchase of another lot 50 feet by 100 feet on the west side of Jefferson St., also owned by the Ours family. However, when Ours offered to sell the corner lot, Council accepted his offer. The lot purchased measures 55 feet by 130 feet.

Money Appropriated
Money for the purchase was appropriated from the Sewer Bond Issue General Improvement Fund in another ordinance.

A joint meeting between the municipal services committee, the finance committee, Fire Chief Owen A. Siffritt, Mayor Harold Robinson, and Safety-Service Director Ralph E. Forrest was called for next Monday after another discussion of the Mark St. fire station situation.

Harold Smith, chairman of the north section of the city was without fire protection when the Township truck was out on call. He especially objected to the fire chief sending the truck to different sections of the county to fight fires, claiming the practice left the north end with no protection in case of a blaze in the area.

Cites Need for More Men
Siffritt countered by saying the situation had existed since 1916 and no disaster had struck yet. He also referred to two reports he had made to council, one in 1949, the other in 1952, both calling for the addition of 10 firemen and the purchase of new equipment.

Officials Cite Need City Levy Would Provide Money for Sewage Plant

Marion city voters will decide plant will run something like $49,665 each year. Of this amount $39,665 will be used for salaries and $10,000 for actual power and other operating costs.

He reported the total cost of operation of the old plant was about $23,800 in 1951 and $22,500 in 1952. He adds that costs were slightly lower last year because the new plant was under construction and treatment was at a mini-mum. Cost of operation this year will be about $23,300, again low because the plant has been in operation only a few weeks out of this year.

City officials say the additional funds are needed mainly to offset the additional cost of operating a treatment plant of nearly double the capacity of the old plant.

ADDITIONS to the plant cost the city something near $800,000. Unless funds are available for proper operation and maintenance of the plant it will soon fall into disrepair, city officials maintain. City Auditor Elmer Shaw has estimated that total cost of operation and maintenance of the new

U.N. Reviews Arab-Israeli Border War

Jordan River Dispute,
Civil Killings Among
Charges Under Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United Nations Security Council today took up the explosive Palestine issue and study possible ways of ending the Israeli-Arab border killings and disputes.

The council was scheduled to hold a morning session to discuss Syria's complaint that Israel has diverted Jordan River waters illegally and to the detriment of her Arab neighbors.

To Air Border Incidents
At an afternoon session, the body was to hear a report from the U. N. truce supervisor in Palestine, Denmark's Maj. Gen. Vagn Bennike, on a series of bloody border incidents.

To make way for these urgent council deliberations, the General Assembly's 6-nation Political Committee put off until tomorrow continued debate on American charges that the Russians directed a Red torture center to wring from captured American soldiers "confessions" they participated in alleged U. S. germ warfare in Korea.

U. S. Delegate Dr. Charles Mayo, the noted Minnesota surgeon, charged yesterday that Russians actually participated in the torture interrogations that forced some prisoners to "confess" the germ war claims.

Malik Denies Charge
Russia's Jacob A. Malik denounced the charge as "a lie and a slander which we repudiate." He countered that the United States had forced the returned prisoners to repudiate their confessions under threat of prosecution.

During his report, Dr. Mayo circulated statements by returned American prisoners repudiating the germ warfare confessions. He reported the Reds had accused 107 captured airmen of engaging in germ warfare. Fourteen of them now are known dead, he said, and another 17 are listed as missing. He added that 40 had refused to sign any "confession" even under the most inhumane treatment, but

British Touch Off Third Atom Blast

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Britain set off her third major atomic explosion today. The blast occurred at southern Australia's desert Woomera Rocket Range and Australian newspapers speculated it involved testing of a new detonating device. Tight secrecy surrounded the test, which the government said brings the present series of experiments to an end.

In London, British Supply Minister Duncan Sandys said the important scientific information which we required in connection with our weapons program "completes the present tests at Woomera."

"Have a Few Clues"
"We have a few things," said Laboratory Director Charles Wilson before the team headed back to its headquarters in Madison. "Perhaps we have some fingerprints. We will check over what we have and make a detailed report later."

The girl's father, Richard, 48, a professor at Lacrosse State College, discovered his missing 15-year-old daughter as usual and he went to the Rasmussen home to investigate. The radio was playing loudly and the doors were locked. He couldn't get in, but he found the basement window open and slid through. Inside, the only traces of his daughter were her shoes—one in the basement, the other in the living room—and her glasses on the living room floor.

Fund for Lt. Shoulders
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Springfield city policemen are contributing to a fund they will give to Louis Shoulders, resigned St. Louis police lieutenant, to help his "fight tation."

Sgt. George Mayfield and policeman Luke Alstott said the idea was a "spontaneous one" and they have asked the 90 members of the Springfield force to contribute $1 each. They said the first contributions were made last night.

Shoulders has been subpoenaed to appear before a federal grand jury in Kansas City in an investigation of the disappearance of some $300,000 of ransom money in the Bobby Greenlease kidnapping. He has denied any irregularities.

MISSING. Evelyn Hartley, 15, is the object of a widespread search in the LaCrosse, Wis., area after she disappeared while baby-sitting. When last seen, Evelyn was wearing a white blouse and red slacks. She is 5 feet, 7 inches tall, weighs 120 pounds, and has blue eyes and brown hair.

Abductor of Girl, 15,
In Home at LaCrosse

LACROSSE, Wis. (AP)—LaCrosse was an uneasy town last night, a town where parents of teenagers stirred restlessly at strange noises, where everyone stayed home because there were no baby sitters.

This was the town of 50,000 where 15-year-old Evelyn Hartley, a daughter of a college professor, disappeared Saturday night while baby-sitting so a family could attend a homecoming football game.

'Not in LaCrosse'
"You expect things like this to happen in New York or Chicago or St. Louis, but not in LaCrosse," said a neighbor woman of the Hartleys.

Rewards totaling $450 have been posted today for information leading to the arrest of the man who forced a basement window at the Viggo Rasmussen home Saturday night and spirited the girl away.

But there were no tangible clues. Footprints, of about a size 10 shoe, were found leading to the Rasmussen home in a new subdivision. Bloodhounds followed the tracks a few blocks, then stopped. Officers figured the girl was shoved into a parked car at that point.

Bloodstains on the outside of the Rasmussen home and on other houses in the vicinity were analyzed by a state crime laboratory.

"Have a Few Clues"
"We have a few things," said Laboratory Director Charles Wilson before the team headed back to its headquarters in Madison. "Perhaps we have some fingerprints. We will check over what we have and make a detailed report later."

The girl's father, Richard, 48, a professor at Lacrosse State College, discovered his missing 15-year-old daughter as usual and he went to the Rasmussen home to investigate. Mobile Phone Installed in Marion Car

Owner May Place Calls While Driving; Device Uses 2-Way Radio

The first mobile telephone unit in Marion has been installed in the car of Jack Cress, president of Ohio Spunkier Co.

He is so pleased with the device, he has made application for six more to be installed in the company's service and sales cars.

By hitting the receiver, and telling the mobile phone operator in Columbus the number he wishes, Cress is able to talk with any phone user in the country.

THE SAVINGS in time and convenience Cress said, are more than enough compensation for the cost which is very reasonable in view of the mobility and convenience he reports.

With his set Cress is able to keep in constant touch with the eight company field crews located between Harrisonburg, Pa. and St. Louis, Mo. He is also able to contact his office while driving along the highway miles from a public phone.

The mobile phone operates on much the same principle as police and highway patrol two-way mobile communication units, with the exception that Cress can tell the operator to give him any special number. Two-way radio connects the car with an operating tower where actual dialing of telephone numbers is conducted.

Three box-like units in the trunk of the car provide the necessary equipment for operating the phone. In one box is the transmitting unit. The receiving apparatus is in another, and in the third is the transformer which supplies power for the phone. Power is taken from the car battery.

Before traveling 8,000 miles to Iran, nineteen purebred Brown Swiss bulls and five heifers will be presented to the public at the Lynn Rohrbaugh farm near Delaware Oct. 30 at 3 p.m.

Collected by Heifer Project, Inc., New Windsor, Md., this shipment is made up of cattle contributed by Ohio farmers and church groups. Besides increasing the supply of milk and beef in Iran, this livestock will serve as tangible evidence of the good will and generosity of the American public. After being trucked to New Orleans, and shipped to Istanbul, Turkey, and moved by rail and truck to Tehran, Iran, the bulls will be used in artificial insemination centers and the heifers will start a foundation herd.

Out in New Glarus, Wisconsin, another dedication ceremony will be held Oct. 30th for twenty bulls and six heifers collected there. This will mean that 40 bulls and ten heifers will be loaded on the S. S. Columbia Heights on Nov. 4 at New Orleans.

Also on the Delaware farm are thirty dairy heifers and two bulls who are scheduled to sail from New York on Nov. 3. These animals will be given to East German refugee farmers now living in West Germany. Heifer Project has already delivered 1,395 head of cattle to these farm families who have been forced to leave their home farms and start anew.

Twenty purebred goats, awaiting clearances to Egypt, will also be exhibited at the Delaware farm. They are part of a 500 goat shipment scheduled to be distributed to Egyptian farmers living in two and one half acre farms along the Nile River.

The Rohrbaugh farm is located west of Delaware on Route 203. Since 1944, Heifer Project has shipped 6,500 head of cattle, 5,000 head of goats, 400 pigs, 40 horses, 216,000 hatching eggs, 120,000 chicks to 29 different countries in the world. All were given with need being the basic requirement when selecting the recipients.

Heifer Project is a joint activity of the Brethren Service Committee, 1111 Exchange and Reformed Church American Baptist Home

Boston Councilman Proposes Delivery Service by Trolley

BOSTON (AP)—A city councilman has offered a resolve to use Boston's publicly owned trolley car system for package delivery service to help business in downtown Boston, increase revenue on the deficit-ridden system and to help the shopper.

The plan offered the City Council yesterday by William J. Foley Jr. would work this way:

Persons would come into town by trolley car to do their shopping. The store would give them a receipt and put the packages on trolley cars for delivery at the stop nearest their home. The shoppers then would ride home clear of bundles and pick up the packages with their receipts.

Spokane Man Claims He's Smallest Mailman

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—There's a man here named X Ray who sees a flaw in other claims to the title of "nation's smallest mailman." X Ray—that's his real name—is 5 feet 2 and weighs only 112 pounds. Charlie Burton, a 63-year-old 115-pounder, retired from the postal service down in Orange, Tex., last week and there were claims he was the smallest letter carrier in the country.

Ray, 56, and the father of seven children, was born in Asheville, N. C. The doctor who delivered him had the first X-ray machine in town. So his parents took a cue and named him X-X Ray.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the most difficult jobs of housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt tile floors waxed and gleaming. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at Uhl's.

Traffic Accidents Strike New Blow At Marietta Squad

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP)—Accidents on the road struck another blow at the Marietta College football team today.

Three players were injured when a car ran off the road near Beverly on Ohio 77.

Another accident Sept. 28 involved six players. Two were killed and one seriously injured.

Dye who was driving said the car struck a tree when it went off the road to avoid hitting another vehicle.

Marietta has lost all four games this season. Saturday—with the lineup even slimmer—the pioneers face Muskingum College at home.

Marion Man Charged With Theft From Mails

A Marion man, George Vernon Morrison of 743 Bennett St. was held in city prison today on a charge of theft of mail from a mailbox.

Morrison was arrested Saturday at 7:13 p.m. in a taxi in downtown Marion after he had attempted to pass an old age pension check at Wilson's Grocery on N. Main St., police said. He was held for investigation.

Morrison later admitted stealing the check and another one out of a mailbox at 764 Bennett St. that day, Chief Tom Coon said. He had cashed a previous one, forging the endorsement on it, Coon reported.

Morrison has been turned over to the postal inspector here for prosecution, Chief Coon said.

Conciliator Seeks Pact In Plane Plant Strike

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A federal conciliator says he hopes to find today a basis upon which negotiations can be continued toward settlement of the strike at North American Aviation Inc.

Representatives of the company and the CIO United Auto Workers conferred by phone yesterday with Commissioner John Fenton of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. Fenton said separate conferences with each group were arranged for today.

The strike began Friday at plants here in Fresno, Calif., and at Columbus, Ohio. Some 33,000 workers are demanding higher pay.

New Trial Asked For Willie Pickens

Motion for a new trial for Willie Pickens, who was found guilty of a second-degree manslaughter charge by a three-judge panel Thursday in Marion County Common Pleas Court, was filed Monday by his attorney, Frank Wiedemann.

The 22-year-old Marion youth who was sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the Mansfield Reformatory, was indicted by a grand jury on the manslaughter charge in connection with the July 19 deaths of H. W. Crissinger, 71, and Harry Mathias, 56, both of Marion, following a traffic collision on Route 30-S near Caledonia.

Pickens was tried by a three-judge panel consisting of Common Pleas Judges Paul D. Smith of Marion, F. Leroy Allen of Marysville, and Marion T. Owen of Urbana.

The motion for the new trial claims the court erred in finding Pickens guilty. The evidence did not support the court's verdict and the judgment was contrary to law.

Beef Marchers

The superficial resemblance of beef-marching cattlemen to bonus-marching veterans of depression days will be noted and exploited by critics of the Eisenhower administration.

Citizens who resent this peculiar form of political horseplay are going to note some other resemblances—not superficial.

They are going to note that marching on Washington, going back to the time of Gen. Coxey, has been a favorite device of pressure blocs and is never spontaneous.

Someone has to organize these projects to embarrass the party in power. The bonus marchers of the Hoover administration were rounded up and subsidized by the Communist conspiracy, with a cheerful assist from smear specialists hired by the Democratic National Committee to destroy confidence in the government.

Even those now-famous New York apple sellers who always are being remembered by agitators were not accidental. They were hired by apple growers to get rid of an apple surplus.

Beef eaters are genuinely sorry about the natural disaster which has overtaken the cattle industry. But beef marchers who go to Washington in buses to give the Eisenhower administration the pressure treatment are no different in their motives from picketers sent to Washington periodically by professional agitators in New York City.

They are on a political mission.

All Together, Boys!

Thanks to the injunction power in the Labor-Management Act (Taft-Hartley) the United States now has until Christmas day before it must condone civil war on Atlantic coast loading piers.

Whatever clashes occur before then between the discredited International Longshoremen's Association and the new AFL outfit which aims to move in and take over the longshoremen's monopoly of waterfront industry will be outside the law and punishable by the federal government.

Every resource of law is being used by the federal government to keep rival union bosses from killing one another in a lethal struggle for waterfront control. At best, however, this will merely discourage overt violence. The mutilated corpse of a waterfront hiring boss missing since last month has been fished out of the Hudson River, a victim of civil war between rival groups of longshoremen. There will be more corpses like his before the nation has reaped all the whirlwind of racketeer-coddling.

Tens of thousands of dollars of extra expense are being incurred by every police force of an Atlantic coast seaport to keep these people from being pitted against one another in open warfare. All that stands between the United States and insurrection in large ports like New York City is a Labor-Management Act injunction.

This would be a good time for all the union executives to get together and chant their theme song over a national hookup:

"Repeal the Taft-Hartley Act"

It would sound even siller than it usually sounds.

95 Plus

In Steel, the weekly magazine of metal-working, the current index on steel production is accompanied by an explanation of vital interest to communities in the steel region.

The 95.5 per cent of capacity rate at which steel was produced last week, the magazine points out, though it sounds like a production slump compared with a rate of 106.6 reached in October a year ago, actually means that nearly as much steel was being produced.

This is because the capacity on which this year's operating rates are computed is 8 per cent higher than last year's capacity.

Furthermore, the 95.5 per cent statistic, though it is watched closely for signs of ups and downs in steel-making, is subject to the weakness of all statistics which reflect an average.

It does not take into account that steel-making rates in some areas were far in excess of 100 per cent and that the over-all average was dragged down by an 80.5 rate in one particular area.

Statistics are used by those who compile them as indicators, never as absolute facts. It is useful to know that the steel industry is currently producing at about 95 per cent of its rated capacity of 100. But it is dangerous to assume this means substantially less steel is being produced than was produced a year ago when production was more than 106 per cent of rated capacity.

Rated capacity has increased in the meantime. In terms of tonnage, the steel industry is producing more as much as it was producing while the country was still fighting a war in Korea.

One out of every seven employed persons who live on farms had a non-farm job in 1930, one out of five in 1940; and one out of three in 1949, reports a survey of the Twentieth Century Fund.

Eisenhower Popularity

By David Lawrence

Poll Indicates Voters Want Aggressive Action

The drop of 10 points in President Eisenhower's popularity — from 75 per cent in mid-September to 65 per cent today, as reported in the latest Gallup Poll — will start considerable discussion of the probable causes.

As Dr. Gallup points out, it is not unusual for wide fluctuations in a President's popularity to be recorded during his administration.

Truman started out with an all-time high of 87 per cent in 1945 when he took office, and went down to 43 per cent at the end of the year, and actually hit a low of 32 per cent within 15 months before starting upward again, yet it will be recalled that he won his election in 1948.

While the Gallup survey shows defections in all groups and sections, it is interesting to note those who disapproved of the Eisenhower record to date gave as their reasons: failure to fulfill promises, failure to cut taxes, lack of leadership, lack of accomplishment, no improvement in economic conditions, caused unemployment, favors big business and doesn't help the worker, hasn't helped the farmer, golfs too much and takes too many vacations.

Analyzing these reasons, they can be attributed in large part to the bad public relations at the White House.

This doesn't mean that they haven't very good press — relations officers there, because they really have.

Public relations isn't a mere matter of mechanics in the giving out of information. It's a matter of planning, and not by subordinates but by the President himself.

It's something that cannot be delegated to a staff meeting. The man who heads a company or a government agency has to do most of this type of thinking and policy-making himself.

The press-relations officer can then articulate it effectively.

Anyone with the most meager knowledge of public relations might have told Eisenhower — if he cared to give time to such things — that everything a President does from the time he gets up in the morning till late at night is news.

Hence if the only news that comes out — and too much of what the President has really done on public questions and problems has been suppressed — is about golf and vacations, then that's the impression the public will get of what he does with his time.

More than this, somebody has told the President a gold brick on how he must conduct himself as a "leader."

The "left wingers" have been needing him to have a series of rows with members of his own party, thus adding to the confusion they would like to see provoked.

Persons of the opposite ideology have been needing him to take an ultra-conservative stand and let the chips fall where they may. The consequences has been that Eisenhower has become super-cautious, and has adopted a course in the middle of the road where he gets rocks from both sides.

Eisenhower instinctively dislikes political partisanship, but he hasn't shown the kind of indignation that should be manifested against the corruption, intrigue and treason that existed in the past administration.

He is a sort of let-by-gones-by-gones person who, because of his excessive consideration for his predecessors, has not yet told the American people in what a mess he found the national government when he took office.

Maybe if he had told — or still will tell — the American people the facts about the way he found things, they will not expect miracles overnight, and will be patient as he tries to clean up "the Washington mess."

It would seem incredible that the American electorate would be permitted to forget the disservice done the country by the corruption and traitorous conduct revealed to have occurred in the last administration.

The American people didn't vote Eisenhower into office just because they were fed up with the Democratic administration.

It was a negative verdict — not unlike that of 1932 — and the consequence then was that the negative tide against the party which had been ousted continued to rise in 1934 and 1936.

It could bring a higher Republican vote in 1954, but not if the Republican administration continues to hide its light under a bushel and ignores the political meaning of controversial problems.

Nor can the President continue to think politics is just a minor matter in modern government from which he can remain aloof while a group of amateurs among his subordinates wrestle with "public relations" and he fails to come to grips with sundry questions himself.

Eisenhower is perhaps the most likable man who has been in the White House since Theodore Roosevelt captivated the affections of the American people.

"Ike" wants to be fair, judicial, nonpartisan and modest as he seeks conscientiously to make a good record which he hopes some day the people will know about. But he's been losing valuable time as against the groups that have been sniping at him.

Their attacks should never have been ignored. The best strategy in politics, as in the military game, is to go from a defensive to a counteroffensive at the earliest practicable moment. The Eisenhower administration is on the defensive today.

Specialized Education

By TRUMAN TWILL

With higher education scaling its autumnal heights — ad astra — and Slippery Rock, Pa., substituted for general education. Teachers on the gridiron every Saturday for glory and one-year contracts in the National Football Association, the following item dodges it.

Fortune Magazine was talking about this in a recent issue. Big employers, it is reported, are pointing out that they could teach would-be executives the tricks of the trade in a couple of months if they could be assured of a dependable supply of candidates who knew where third base is in terms of general knowledge. Big employers, in other words, want broadly educated men, not specialists.

With due respect to the super-marketing, advanced education in supermarketing at the expense of general education is carrying specialization to a ridiculous extreme.

The harvest truly is plentiful, but the laborers are few. — Matthew 9:37

Half a generation ago, about the only vocational training which had crept into higher education had to do with selling stocks and bonds. The curriculum calculated to fit a graduate for this endeavor was conveniently vague.

One of the most important courses was unofficial — parlor tricks. The subject material was picked up at random along the primrose path by students bucking for the degree of Bachelor of Securities. If they also happened to pick up a roommate with the right connections or a fiancée whose father was in on the ground floor of something fruitful, they could dismiss their after-graduation worries.

As it turned out when the market finally subsided, some of the Bachelors of Securities weren't very well equipped for the long, grim battle with adversity. For a time, they made a kind of meteor shower of falling bodies as they leaped from ledges and toppled into the proverbial abyss.

They had been left as high and dry as would have been Bachelors of Blacksmithing, if colleges had given specialized training in that vocation at the turn of the century. This would not be worth an ulcer

Voters Put Selfish Interest First

By Raymond Moley

It is written in history that there are fair problems, complicated always by local complications. Two other matters are concerned in elections at the local level, both of which have little to do with so-called national issues.

The first is the personality of the candidate, when counts for perhaps more than half the result. The other is the infinitely complex relationships that exist among the politicians, large and small — mostly small — who operate at the local level.

Few people who have not participated in a campaign at that level, particularly in a big cosmopolitan city, realize how lightly the virtues of party loyalty, respect for the law, personal promises and confidences are held in the clubhouses.

Party lines mean very little there. The head of the ticket, be he candidate for president, governor or mayor, is traded off for the assemblyman or councilman.

All these factors will be operating next year when a new Congress is elected.

The record of the President and the administration will have some influence, but the real factors will be local.

Each parachutist wears a special pack wrapped around his leg. Behind later this winter in various parts of Switzerland, in which help-drops of supplies and parachute communities of which he is a member. The exigencies of self-preservation enforce the order of importance among his concerns.

The farmers of the Ninth Wisconsin District were not thinking of the price of cotton or of citrus fruits when they elected a congressman.

They were thinking about butter and cheese and the prospects of their sons going to war.

The workers in Eau Claire were thinking about how it came about that they were laid off.

If the election had been held in Eastern Nebraska, the voters would have been only incidentally concerned with butter, but they would have been pretty well wrought up about conservation districts and what the Department of Agriculture proposed to do about them.

If the election were held in some parts of Colorado, beef cattle and other matters would concern the farmers.

Thus, there is no farm problem; there are farm problems, complicated always by local complications.

Two other matters are concerned in elections at the local level, both of which have little to do with so-called national issues.

The first is the personality of the candidate, when counts for perhaps more than half the result. The other is the infinitely complex relationships that exist among the politicians, large and small — mostly small — who operate at the local level.

Few people who have not participated in a campaign at that level, particularly in a big cosmopolitan city, realize how lightly the virtues of party loyalty, respect for the law, personal promises and confidences are held in the clubhouses.

Party lines mean very little there. The head of the ticket, be he candidate for president, governor or mayor, is traded off for the assemblyman or councilman.

All these factors will be operating next year when a new Congress is elected.

The record of the President and the administration will have some influence, but the real factors will be local.

BROTHER, THIS IS BLISS!

In world-shaking events of the past week developments in Trieste, Guiana and the Near East were eclipsed by "border incidents" all along the Arthur Godfrey front.

Godfrey claimed Julius La Rosa and Archie Bleyer violated a nonaggression pact and crossed his 38th Parallel. La Rosa was shot down in a surprise sortie from Leesburg.

Archie was taken out by air, land and sea. To La Rosa's solo "I'm Walking Behind You," Godfrey replied with, "I'm Thinking Ahead of You."

Statements, counterstatements, explanations and rumors have been filling show circles ever since, but it boils down to the fact that Godfrey, a top exponent of the one-happy-family theory, wants the family kept intact under one tent, and not spreading itself all over the lot, which seems reasonable enough.

Arthur first heard La Rosa on an aircraft carrier two years ago and signed him at once, the kid becoming one of radio and TV's top stars.

The lad is loaded with personality, warmth and the trouble between him and the redhead was due to the sudden fame, the terrific audience response and the rush of Broadway agents to head and feet.

Godfrey had let him eat, drink and sleep as you go out routine. (Maybe he didn't lower the boom, but what but Julius was no teabag.)

He took Julius and Archie out with a hip action seldom bettered on a football field. (La Rosa was so surprised he couldn't find his voice but that was okay since Godfrey was finished with it anyhow.) All parties to the family bustup must there are no hard feelings, but, on the other hand, no repatriation agreements are anticipated.

La Rosa went to the Ed Sullivan program Sunday night, a sort of leap from tea to toast. It will seem strange, unless Sullivan uses a ukulele and more Hawaiian scenes. We would like to see UN look into the whole matter.

There can be no world peace if our radio and TV programs are to be switched that way.

With "Tea and Sympathy" and "Teahouse" the two big hits of Broadway this season, the tea influence is terrific and they are even talking of the stars' appearance on "Tea-V."

In fact, producers are reported considering title changes of current shows to "Tea and Juliet," "My Tea Angels," "Tea King and I" (The Palace may bill its present hit closer to Bet Tea Hutton).

Broadway show folks and plenty of tourists will be glad to know that New Haven, long a bad way for smart hotels, is to have a new 405-room hotel near the Sheraton at Church and Wall Street, two blocks from the former Green.

Not a hotel in the city with an ample foyer, commodious lounges or a deluxe dining room!

New York is trying out those "Yield Right of Way" signs as substitutes for "Stop" signs and it is already obvious that thousands of Gotham outcasts think "yield" is a five-letter word meaning nothing in particular.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art, following a strike, has severed relations with the Museum Guards' Union. What does a museum guard do when not working? Probably goes to visit a museum.

Ike Shows Little Liking For Regular Press Talks

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although President Eisenhower is averaging fewer than one fourth as many news conferences as President Roosevelt held and fewer than one half as many as President Truman, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty says Eisenhower's last twice as long.

Between the time he returned to this country in June 1952 to campaign for the presidency and Jan. 20, 1953, when he was inaugurated, Eisenhower showed small taste for news conferences. He held only a few up to election day and only one afterwards, a limited conference in Korea.

In the weeks immediately preceding his inauguration there were reports he was thinking of abolishing news conferences and, instead, making regular reports to the nation on radio and TV. This wasn't received well and, if ever considered at all, was soon dropped.

The news conference, as conducted by Roosevelt and Truman had become a valuable American institution in the best democratic sense, giving the public, through the newsmen, a regular opportunity to quiz the Chief Executive, thus providing him with a constant reminder of his responsibility to the people and keeping him from becoming too aloof or secretive.

It had benefited the President, too, by giving him a chance to learn what was uppermost in the American mind and what the public reaction was to the moves he had made or was contemplating. Truman and Roosevelt both enjoyed the rough-and-tumble of the questioning newsmen.

A president who turned his back on news conferences and relied upon carefully prepared radio-TV scripts to keep the people informed would be setting up his own ground rules; he could call his own shots, without any questions, embarrassing or otherwise, being asked.

This was pointed out before Eisenhower stepped into the White House. The day after the inauguration Hagerty told reporters Eisenhower would hold news conferences regularly and that perhaps one of these conferences would be televised once a month. Eisenhower did not hold a news conference for almost a month after taking office. They have been held irregularly since then. In his 12 White House years, Roosevelt held 998 conferences, an average of 81 a year. In his eight years, Truman held 324, an average of 40 a year.

Last night, in a Du Mont TV quiz show where Washington newspaper people questioned Hagerty about white house news policies, the press secretary said Eisenhower has held 17 conferences since Jan. 20. But he said Eisenhower's have average about 30 minutes each, or twice as long as Roosevelt's and Truman's.

While this might indicate Eisenhower permits more questioning when he does hold a conference, an analysis of the Eisenhower-Roosevelt-Truman conferences would probably show Eisenhower takes a lot longer to answer questions.

While Roosevelt and Truman sometimes snapped at a reporter, TV before year's end.

Eisenhower has been more restrained. Where Roosevelt and Truman often declined to answer by saying "no comment," Hagerty said Eisenhower had used the "no comment" reply only once. Newsmen, however, often prefer a "no comment" to a reply that is general to the point of vagueness.

Whatever happened to the televised news conference which Hagerty talked about last Jan. 21? He said yesterday there is a "good chance" some form of presidential news conference will go on, TV before year's end.

Symington Out As Candidate For President

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Missouri's Sen. Stuart Symington yesterday ruled himself out as a possible Democratic nominee for president in 1956 but joined many of his fellow Democrats in denouncing the administration's agricultural policies.

"My sole interest," he said, "is in being a good senator. My political ambition is to be the best senator possible for the people of Missouri."

He spoke last night at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner for state Democrats.

"In this period of critical drought," he declared, "the American cattleman and dairyman is not being given anything—and he is not asking to be given anything."

"Our farmers are asking to buy feed at prices which make it possible for them to hold their cattle through the winter."

Symington said the administration went back on a pledge by Secretary of Defense Wilson that no combat planes would be eliminated by a cut in Air Force appropriations.

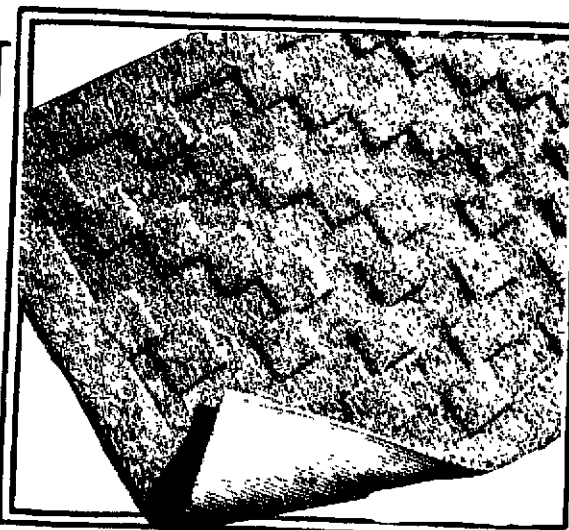

Many senators told him, he said, they voted for the appropriation cut because of such assurances. He added:

"The people have had enough of such deception," and said there would be a "reckoning" when Congress convenes next year.

New Fashions In Hair Shown

Tinting of Tresses Is Becoming Popular

Many may have pink hair this week and sultry purple tresses next without fear of criticism, members of the Marion Chapter of the Ohio Hairdressers Guild were told by P. J. Marchette, New York City hair stylist, at the chapter's style revue, Sunday at Hotel Harding.

Hair to match or contrast with one's gown is catching on and promises to become popular, the stylist stated. Peach blond seems to be a favorite, he added. He demonstrated styling and cutting in the newest modes on local models and noted as the one specific style the modification of the Italian hair cut. Styles demonstrated were the Modreen and Italian.

Serving as models were Miss Barbara Porter and Mrs. Marjorie Barrett.

During a short business session final plans were made for the annual hair styling contest to be held Nov. 18 at 8 p.m. in the community room of the West Town Branch Bank. This will be open to the public.

Sunday night a class was held at the Vanity Beauty shop with the visiting stylist as instructor. Demonstrating the class work were Mrs. Josephine Ferguson, Mrs. Betty Cook, Mrs. Thelma Goerlich, Mrs. Judy Wolfe, Mrs. Mary Jane Bascos, and Mrs. Mary Swann, beauticians, and Mrs. Roma Kern, Mrs. Donna Beam, Mrs. Valeria Fuhes, Mrs. Mary Jordan, Mrs. Betty Roberts, and Mrs. Esther Porter, models. The instructor also introduced the coming style which, he stated, will not be presented to the public until early 1954.

High School Girls To Take Part in Guild 'Follies'

A GROUP OF 20 high school girls, chosen for their dancing ability, good looks, and general scholarship, are setting a fast pace for the "Follies of 1953" to be presented Nov. 5 and 6 at the Palace Theater under the sponsorship of the Junior Service Guild.

In the group, shown above, are Karen Syster, Sara Meister, Kay Gilmore, Jackie Schill, Marilyn Hale, Elsie Crouse, Sandy Cornely, Kip Frey, Janie Granger, Shirley Hoffman, Frances Smith, Katie Kinsler, Connie Bartram, Sally Waddell, Mickey Umbaugh, Margie Firstenberger, Suzanne McCurdy, Alma Turner,

Margo Dodds, and Jaynace White. Onlookers say the teenagers as they go into their second week of rehearsals, run through their numbers like veterans of show business. They say their high spirits and enthusiasm bring to rehearsals an air of excitement which is felt by the other members of the cast.

Director Robert Cowell and members of the talent committee who watch the "Rockettes" work out are pleased with the showmanship and talent they believe the girls possess. "Old grads" of the two previous Guild Follies are amazed at the stamina exhibited by the girls as they rehearse the strenuous routines of precision dancing.

Members of the Guild report a good response to the ticket sales which they are conducting for the Follies. For the benefit of those who may not be able to contact a Guild member, tickets will go on sale in the downtown area Friday at Gallaher's Drug Store from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and at the National City Bank from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

They emphasize that these are exchange tickets and must be exchanged for a reserved seat ticket at the Palace Theater from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 3 for the Thursday evening performance, and on Wednesday, Nov. 4 for the Friday evening performance.

Administration Still Hopeful However

Budget Forecast: Deficits To Continue

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration is hoping that two big things will happen—and one won't—to allow something like a balanced budget next year.

Nevertheless, there is a strong suggestion that the country is being prepared for the possibility of continued, perhaps sizeable, deficits due to large defense outlays.

Here are the possibilities, an informed administration source said, on which are planned hopes for a budget balanced at least on a cash income and outgo basis next year:

1. That the new Joint Chiefs of Staff will come up next spring with plans for a military establishment to cost four or five billion dollars less.
2. That Congress can be prevailed upon, even in an election year, to continue present corporate income rates and excise sales tax scheduled—or to enact new levies to make up for any cuts in present rates. Corporate and excise taxes are scheduled to drop in April to rates yielding an estimated three billion dollars less a year than now.
3. That the slight softening in business activity in the July-September quarter this year will not turn into a recession requiring big spending for relief and public works while government revenues dropped.

Last week Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey made a speech to Republican party fund raisers in San Francisco, that echoed both the administration's budget hope and frustration.

Humphrey's speech mirrored the hope that an adequate defense need not cost as much as it has; that perhaps big savings can be made by tuning the defense establishment to tomorrow's weapons and strategy.

He seemed to be talking of a lighter, more mobile defense, with less emphasis on costly items like battleships and large standing armies.

But until such a program is assured, savings can not be counted on. Humphrey made plain in any event, defense will continue to cost a lot, he indicated, and when it will decline is still a guess.

Later in the week, after a talk to the Department of Commerce Business Advisory Council at a meeting in Pebble Beach, Calif., Humphrey told reporters there will be another deficit in 1955, unless "we can very substantially reduce our military expenditures."

Earlier, President Eisenhower told his news conference he could not say the budget would be balanced next year. In a speech at Detroit, Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge said it would be at least as hard to produce a balanced budget next year as it was this year, when the administration accepted a $3,800,000,000 deficit.

W. Randolph Burgess, deputy to Humphrey for debt management and fiscal affairs, told a Washington meeting of business writers last week he could not predict a balanced budget next year. That, he said, depends on "what is done in the Pentagon, and on the broad world situation."

The administration source who said there was still hope for a cash balance next year also said there was little hope for a balanced conventional budget.

That means the government hopes to spend no more than it takes in from all sources, including receipts for Social Security and the other government public trusts.

Trust receipts belong to the trust, not to the government, and so are not counted in the conventional budget as income balancing outgo. But the government always estimated revenue loss to the government of $2,300,000,000.

It has been suggested the corporation rate cutback might be held to 50 per cent, that excise rate cutbacks might be moderated, and that other excises might be imposed.

In one way or another, if there is to be no revenue loss next spring, Congress—in an election year—must pass laws to retain or add an estimated $2,300,000,000 bite on the taxpayer's purse.

3. That there will be no big business downturn, a hope which now looks like a lot better bet than the first two.

There has been a very small dip in business activity, but the economy is rising so high and unemployment is so low that business and government economists mostly agree that any general dip will be shallow.

Even a fairly small economic decline, if general, could cost the government a lot.

William R. Biggs, vice president of the Bank of New York, recently said in a published analysis of budget prospects that a slowdown like that in 1949—when industrial production fell off 8 per cent—could create a 17 billion dollar deficit next year, if scheduled tax cuts take place.

Additionally, hard-to-control items like the cost of farm price supports could knock all budget estimates in the head.

Oranges may be peeled more easily by placing them in boiling water for a few minutes and then putting them in cold water before paring.

Hot Rod Easy Way To Find Trouble, Tampa Judge Says

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—"There is nothing that can get a fellow in trouble faster than a hot rod unless it's a blonde."

That was Judge L. A. Grayson's declaration in Criminal Court yesterday to three young men convicted of burglary.

"They (hot rods) cost you a lot of money, and if you don't have money to buy things for them, you steal it," Judge Grayson said.

Then he told Raymond Duncan, 20, and two 18-year-old youths, Charles Howard and Mike Roth, they cannot own or operate a hot rod for five years. That was one of the conditions on which he granted them probation.

Craft who were instrumental in purchasing the extensive conference grounds for the Baptist denomination at Green Lake, Wis., 10 years ago. He has chosen as his subject, "Blest Be the Tie."

A musical feature on the program will be several vocal numbers by Garret Moore, who is a member of the state highway patrol. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Griselda Davis Dombaugh at the piano.

These Days

The existence of the Monmouth Spy Ring, despite all the Congressional investigations and the trials in courts, establishes beyond doubt the superiority of the Russians in the fields of espionage and infiltration. They know how to do it. They keep at it. When one group has become expendable, they have ready another group to take its place.

American counter-espionage has not been effective. With few exceptions, it is hampered by ignorance. By that I mean that few Americans, either in government, in our universities, or the press, have taken the trouble to study the theory, strategy and tactics of the world-wide Communist conspiracy.

THERE IS PLENTY of shouting and defaming but little real knowledge. The Russians understand the American characteristic of easily becoming bored with the boring. They therefore establish an apparatus which is like one of those toys they like so much in their country. Outside is a large box; you take one off and there is another box; you go on and on taking off boxes until you have a tiny one. That is the hard core. That is what counts. In the United States, for instance, the Communist party never reached much over 100,000 members; but a single front organization had a membership of 4,000,000. That front organization was the

SOKOLSKY

By George Sokolsky

MANY PERSONS who were once associated with Communist causes and espionage groups actually did not understand what they were doing because they did not understand the nature and strategy of this conspiracy, just as their critics do not. However, a prolonged discussion with them of their experiences provides invaluable leads to the hard core. This is slow and patient work and can only be done by trained technicians who have the time to give to it and the capacity for sympathetic understanding. It is violently vindictive approach drives such a person to cover. He claims up and his valuable information may be lost forever. It must always be borne in mind in such conversations that the individual, no matter how helpful he may want to be, does not really understand the nature of his experience.

HOW COMPLEX this problem is as evidenced by the effort of a most distinguished law firm in New York to have Robert Morris disqualified as a candidate for judicial office because of his exemplary work in uncovering the conspiracy within the Institute of Pacific Relations. These are great lawyers, generally so regarded, but they are babes in arms in their understanding of how they and others like them are used as covers in this vast conspiracy. They seek evidence where it cannot be because it has been removed as a crook wipes fingerprints away. Not having their kind of evidence, they cannot believe even the obvious. Earl Jowett wrote a book on Alger Hiss which proves how dumb a great lawyer can be in this field. (King Features Syndicate)

Reporters Are Getting News, Hagerty Says

Ike's Press Secretary, Washington Bureau Chief Cross Swords

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's press secretary says he thinks Washington reporters are getting the news—and "more fairly and more accurately than they did in the past administration." On that James C. Hagerty, the press secretary, crossed swords on a television program last night with Raymond P. Brandt, chief of the Washington bureau of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. They differed, too, over whether the administration fears and distrusts the press and whether it was a payoff to friendly newspapers when Atty. Gen. Brownell "leaked" word to several newsmen ahead of time that Gov. Earl Warren of California would become chief justice. The two appeared on the Detroit Network's panel, "The Big Issue." Brandt contended that because of the administration's attitude, its relations with the press have worsened. "In the Roosevelt administration," he said, "we had politicians and college professors and those who studied government. Now, the bulk of the top men and women are business people, or military, and they have the idea that they can put a fat accomplish (action) already taken" before the people and thereby stop discussion. Hagerty said in reply he believes the administration is honest, trying to see that Washington newspapermen get the news. He cited as a matter of "considerable importance" to them a new information order he said may be expected within two weeks. First proposed last April, Hagerty said, the order will deny to 29 federal agencies the right to put secrecy stamps on documents and limit the right in 16 other departments to the agency heads. The order is designed to replace one former President Truman issued in 1951 which, in effect, told civilian agencies to apply military rules of security to information which might help potential enemies.

Phone Company Seeks Rate Hike In Bucyrus Area

Special to The Star BUCYRUS — Several city officials, including Mayor Frank P. Sider and Solicitor Robert L. Brown, are expected to attend a hearing Wednesday morning before the Ohio Public Utilities Commission in Columbus on the Bucyrus Telephone Company's application for another increase in rates. The proposed increase would amount to between 20 and 25 percent overall but in the party line residential bracket, the rate would be increased 50 percent from $2.50 to $3.75 a month plus federal tax. The company blames higher operating costs for the rate must request, which would bring in an additional $68,275 a year in revenue. An increase of about 20 percent, amounting to $28,573, was granted the company in August, 1951, on the condition that the company make extensive improvements in service. There are 5,217 subscribers on the company's Bucyrus and Chaffinch exchanges.

T. W. Along these lines he wrote weekly and daily newspaper columns and did a daily radio broadcast, keeping citizens of Wharton County informed of his activities and items of interest. Lane has been given national publicity with write-ups in the Saturday Evening Post, Time and Life. Inside Labor

I can respect Martin Durkin as a man and a labor leader and still have nothing but contempt for that part of his Plumber's Union which crawls into the St. Louis and counter-charges, no person official, for the Atty. has been given the right to express the sentiment of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers with the administration and its public relations policy.

That was Local 72 in Atlanta, to be exact, and I recall walking into the room at 198 1/2 Whitehall St. sick to my stomach when I saw small electrified crosses plugged into sockets to light up in imitation of the larger ones they burned out of doors. This did not mean that Martin Durkin would not have been sickened, too, had he seen it.

IT MEANS that many good men of labor have just not policed their sprawling organizations — and they are now facing an oversized wave of exposures, investigations and scandals for which they will be blamed unless they stop talking of all labor as a single, solid thing of purity which can make no errors. All this comes up now because of a revolt in the ranks by a powerful union chief against this philosophy of defying a gargantuan block of 16,000,000 working people as a monolith to be worshipped by all. This rebellious labor chief is Guy I. Brown, the grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who has not had the bugles blown for him in the past. He rises in wrath now — not as a Republican or a Democrat — because of labor's official blasts at President Eisenhower.

BROWN SAYS give the man a fair trial. "Labor cannot be lumped all

RIESEL

By Victor Riesel

If there is evil, it will be reported not as a blast against the philosophy of trade unionism, but in the same manner that one covers the police courts, the State Department and the Pentagon. The leader of the 78,000 members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers does well to point out the need for labor to re-examine its public relations policy. AFTER BROWN made this speech to his convention, he received a letter from John Steelman, the former "assistant president" of the United States in two regimes, congratulating him by saying "I thought you uttered words of wisdom and wish more people would talk as you did." To which Brown said: "Why is it that we in labor so often view the world with blinders on? Let others do it if they must, but let us serve our people in particular and the general public in a larger sense."

THEN, REFERRING to Gen. Eisenhower's administration, Brown said, "I consider the present regime an opportunity for labor to demonstrate to management how good Americans cooperate with a people's mandate democratically registered. "Organized labor must desist from a 'leave-em bleeding,' unsavory approach which makes more enemies than friends. "Our own organization has one of its finest officers, Harrison Hobart, working with the administration as asst. secretary of labor. I want to say he is NOT working in Washington for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. He IS working for the people of the U.S. In so doing he is serving locomotive engineers everywhere in the wisest and highest fashion." Brown has voted Democrat as often as he has cast a Republican ballot. He's just going down the middle — a lonely road these days.

Nature's Rampage

NEWPORT — A gypsy in scarlet and gold is prancing across the rolling hills and the quiet valleys of New England. Call it autumn, call it Indian summer, call it whatever you like, but it is the most wonderful time of the year. A rich palette of shades unfolds the landscape, for nature is on her annual ram-page in this oldest section of the nation. At this season she stages here the greatest show on earth, or a reasonable facsimile.

I WOULD COUNT that year it were I unable to snatch a few days in New England at this time of year. For here has Chatterbox, England; here has Canterbury, Spain; here has Toledo, Italy; here has Florence, Greece; here has the Pythons and India the Taj Mahal. But New England has autumn. The drought, I was warned when I started on my annual pilgrimage, had somewhat dimmed the glory of the foliage. And it is true that the leaves in many a New England hamlet are baked and bold yellow to yield, in turn, to a fringe of vermilion on the terminal leaves, that even some of the evergreens are touched with brown. Nor is there as much smoke as usual to spice the air. New England is so dry that leaves must be burned with the greatest of caution or not burned at all. OTHERWISE, autumn is her usual riotous, unrestrained self-portrait. Through Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, this is a real 3-D production on an out-size screen, and the spectator moves his gaze glasses at his own peril. Only the evergreens, the weeping willows and the apple orchards are still in monotone. The maples, the oaks, the birches, the beeches and the sweet gums range through a molten gold to deepest maroon. Hundreds of little villages like Pomfret in Connecticut and Wickford in Rhode Island are set in day in frames of scarlet and gold. THE OAKS SHOW the greatest range of color, from vivid shockingly pink to darkest red. But the maples are still the most versatile of a great maple in a three-fold color scheme, the green leaves at the heart of the tree changing to a bold yellow to yield, in turn, to a

A Boy Dreams...and grows

Dreams are the stuff our nation is made of — dreams of progress, the dream of a better life for all. Here in America dreams of the past become the reality of today. You find these dreams fulfilled right in your own community — the strong urge for betterment, shown in these towns along the Erie right-of-way. Better schools, churches, new businesses and industries, more recreational facilities — each in its way contributes to a fuller life for everybody. The Erie Railroad has a stake in those dreams, for as you grow the railroad grows along with you. That is mutual progress in which each helps the other. That is why the Erie constantly works to keep up with your community's progress, by improving our service and equipment to provide the best in safe, dependable transportation. In this way the Erie fills the role of a good neighbor, and in the best sense of the word, a home town partner.

Yearend Melons Ripening

Glowing Profit Reports
Brighten Bonus Picture

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The season of the yearend bonus is near for some lucky stockholders and employees. Glittering profit reports by many corporations foretell extra dividends and Christmas payments. But in some cases both the extras and the bonuses may arrive after you've taken down the Christmas tree. A number of corporations have indicated they'll hold up payments until January. This is to give stockholders and employees a break in income taxes.

Individual income tax rates will go down an average of 10 per cent after Jan. 1. Yearend extra dividends declared now but paid after New Year's will be subject to the new and lower payment schedules.

The dividends, as always, will be paid out of corporate earnings and these earnings themselves will be subject to at least a 52 per cent corporate income tax — higher if the company comes under the additional excess profits tax. What is left to the corporation after the income tax payments can be passed along to stockholders, who then pay an individual income tax on it. A fight against this "double taxation of dividends" is expected to be renewed in the next session of Congress.

Corporations usually retain a sizable part of earnings after taxes to use for expansion or for working capital. But this year profits for many of them are running well ahead of last year. Also many of them have completed or are finishing their postwar and Korean War expansion programs and will have less need for retaining earnings in the business.

Stockholders are expecting to reap the benefits.

So far this year dividend payments have been running nearly five per cent ahead of a year ago. They have been based on the cherry profits reports that business as a whole has been turning in, especially in the second quarter. The Security and Exchange Commission estimates the profits of manufacturing corporations alone totaled three billion dollars during April, May and June, a gain of six per cent over the first three months of the year. It is nearly 14 per cent higher than the second quarter of 1952, the summer of the big steel strike.

There are some signs that the third quarter earnings, now being reported, will be lower than the second quarter. But corporations reporting their net income for the first nine months of the year show the healthy gains in the first half were enough to lift the whole nine months well above a year ago, furnishing a good reserve in the cash drawer on which to draw for extra dividends to stockholders.

Some corporations, of course are going to take a more cautious stand. They fear that the readjustment in the general economy is going to gain momentum, that the many of them are running well ahead of last year. Also many of them have completed or are finishing their postwar and Korean War

But a downturn in business will hurt the tax collector most. Since Uncle Sam takes the biggest share of the gross earnings, he will take the biggest loss if sales turn down. What's left over for the stockholders won't be affected much unless there is a sharp dip in business.

Driver Offers To Pay His Traffic Ticket Double

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Traffic Judge James Demopolis says it isn't often that an offender will praise the officer who gave him a ticket, and it is even more rare when the violator admits his error and offers to pay double the fine.

Dr. A. M. Ewing, Oklahoma City University professor, did just that. Demopolis said Ewing admitted pulling an "absent-minded professor" act and drove through a red light while daydreaming.

He said the professor offered to pay double the fine, about $20, to the cancer society if the proceedings were dropped, pointing out it was his first offense.

Demopolis always interested in a "two to one deal" okayed the proposal.

Nine Proposed Amendments on Ballot

State School Board, Road Bond Issue Lead List of Nine Statewide Proposals

State constitutional amendments to establish a state board of education and to authorize a $500,000 highway bond issue are the two top statewide proposals which will confront Ohio voters when they go to the polls next Tuesday.

The state school board proposal, known as Amendment 2, and the highway bond issue, Amendment 1, head a list of nine proposed state constitutional amendments. The seven other proposals are designed to eliminate obsolete or conflicting sections of the constitution.

AMENDMENT 2 would place the State Department of Education under a state board of education which would appoint the state director of education. Under the proposal, the State Department of Education would be operated on the same basis as Ohio's 1400 local school districts, where a board of education representing the people of the district would appoint a superintendent of schools to administer school affairs. A provision enacted in 1912 now requires the state director of education to be appointed by the governor.

Method of electing members of the state board of education would be determined by law. The state legislature would have the right to fix the number of members, but not less than five. The organization, administration and control of the public school system in each state would be determined by the state board members, who are named by the legislature or governor, while in others they are elected by the people.

PROPOSERS OF Amendment 2, which include such state groups as the Ohio PTA, Ohio State Medical Association, League of Women Voters, League of Education of Local School Boards, Ohio Education Association, Ohio Child Conservation League, American Association of University

Women and Junior Order United must be so issued as to retire the whole debt by 1972 to the effect that no money can be spent only on major thoroughfares and that construction must be by contract. Money to pay principal and interest will come from motor vehicles taxes and license and tax on gasoline.

On approval of the bond issue, the Legislature is expected to meet in special session to get the program under way.

ALL BUT four states, Ohio, Illinois, North Dakota and Wisconsin have established state boards of education. Adoption of Amendment 2 would bring the state board into effect in 1955 unless a special legislative session is called earlier.

The highway bond issue passed would provide for the issuance of bonds in an amount not exceeding $500,000,000 to be used for the present $750,000 to a maximum of $125,000,000.

RESTRICTIONS PROVIDED in the amendment include that no more than $125,000,000 be authorized in one year, that no part of the debt can be contracted after March 31, 1962, that bonds

Poll-Taker Interviews Wilbur Peeble

By HAL BOYLE

HOMETOWN, U. S. A. — The visitor could hear the sound of loud voices as he rang the bell at the home of Wilbur and Trellis Mae Peeble.

"I hope I'm not disturbing you," he murmured as the door opened. "Oh, no, my wife and I were just working on a crossword puzzle," said Wilbur.

"Don't you use pencils?" asked the visitor, noticing both Peebles were empty-handed.

"Oh, it isn't a newspaper crossword puzzle," said Wilbur. "It's the family kind. . . you know. . . the husband can never find a space to fit in a word."

"Umm," murmured the visitor tactfully, not wishing to be drawn into the situation. "May I introduce myself? I'm Ronald Q. Querie, field representative of the Elmer J. Pacer Public Opinion Poll Co."

"I have been told you are the most average couple in America, and I'd like to get your opinion on some of the more important questions that face us all."

"Master, you're just 12 months too late," said Trellis Mae.

"Why?" asked the surprised visitor.

"Because a year ago Wilbur knew all the answers," said Trellis Mae, "and now he isn't sure of anything, including Ike's golf score."

"Please excuse my wife," said Wilbur, apologetically. "She still keeps a picture of Adlai Stevenson on her dressing table."

"Well, well," said Mr. Querie. "What do you think the U. S. should do to solve its economic and international problems?"

"That's easy," replied Wilbur. "In a word, well—we should lower prices, cut taxes, balance the budget, help ourselves by helping other nations, build a real defense at home and . . . and . . ."

" . . . And put up bigger and better houses for the blue birds," broke in Trellis Mae. "Or, in a shorter word—nonsense."

"My wife studied economics in high school, and it affected her mind," apologized Wilbur stiffly.

"What do you think of the cattle-men's march on Washington?" inquired Mr. Querie.

"It's the wrong approach," observed Wilbur. "If you want to get anything from a politician you got to get him to come to you. You can't go to him. That breaks the rules."

Richwood Resident Named Show Judge

W. L. Welsh of Richwood has been named as one of the judges at the International Livestock Exposition to be held in Chicago Nov. 28 to Dec. 5.

He will be one of three judges in the National 4-H and professional sheep shearing contest to be held as part of the exposition. Other judges are Jerry Sotola of Armour's Livestock Bureau in Chicago and Donald Pullin of Waterloo, Ia.

This is Welsh's first year as a judge at the International, but he has been in the show as a competitor for the last seven years. From 1946 to 1951 he was in the finals every year.

In 1950, he was high man in the preliminaries. Two other times, he was second high. He is now president of the Ohio Sheep Shearers Association.

His son Robert, who is now in the Army, stationed at Chicago, won the National 4-H shearing in the last year at Chicago setting a record in doing so.

Mesa Police Quick To End Case of Annoying Suitor

MESA, Ariz. — When Teresa Moreno complained to police last night about an annoying suitor, she found them understanding, to say the least.

Patrolman M. R. Claywell and Tony Cordasco provided her escort service to the police station.

On the way they picked up Henry Garcia, the mole antagonist. Justice of the Peace Jack Hunsaker took the quarrelsome couple aside.

Meanwhile, police roused Mrs. Roy Franklin, deputy recorder. She issued a marriage license. Officer Cordasco stood up as best man and Hunsaker read the ceremony.

Deputy Embarrassed

BISBEE, Ariz. — If deer hunters were breaking the law, Deputy Sheriff Bennett Moson knew he would find them.

Both eyes peeled for violations, he drove onto a game preserve. Suddenly a four-point buck darted across the road. Moson tried to swerve, but there wasn't time before the collision.

Embarrassed, Moson pulled the deer into his sheriff's car and contributed the meat to the county hospital.

"I don't believe I quite get you," said Mr. Querie.

"Well, the average American is a white collar worker," said Trellis Mae, "and if the cities would enforce smoke control laws he could wear the same shirt to work two days in a row."

The eyes of Mr. Querie began to glaze, but he made one more stab. "We like to find what problem is really uppermost in the average couple's mind at the time we poll them," he said. "What were you arguing . . . er . . . that is, talking about when I rang your bell—personal finances, the Russian threat, the Communist menace?"

"Well, as a matter of fact," said Wilbur, "we were discussing why my wife's brother got tight at our wedding reception 15 years ago."

Last Tuesday, my wife still says she spiked the punch, and of course I didn't do any such thing."

"You did too!" exclaimed Trellis Mae. "And now, at last, I'll tell you how I know. The minister saw you do it, and he told me. I just wanted to see how many years you could go on telling me a lie."

"And I paid that minister $10 for 15 minutes work," said Wilbur, turning to Mr. Querie. "You know what's the big problem in the world today? There's nobody a man can really trust. Put that in your poll."

Escape Rumors False

Beria Still in Soviet Jail, Reports to West Indicate

BY ANTONY TERRY

BERLIN (NANA) — Lavrenti Beria, deposed Soviet secret police chief—the man who could be the West's greatest anti-Communist propaganda weapon—has not escaped from Russia. He is still held by Malenkov, heavily guarded in a "V.I.P." jail at Seregowsk, in the far away Soviet Komi Republic.

"Inside information" which has reached Allied officials in Berlin from behind the Iron Curtain completely discounts recent rumors that Beria had escaped to the West.

The real story behind the Beria mystery reads like a detective thriller—with forces of armed Soviet secret police acting something like movie gangsters in trying to rescue their former "boss," who was arrested at the Kremlin's orders last July.

guard after three attempts by Beria's bodyguard troops to rescue their former chief from jail in the Moscow area earlier this year. According to the reports, the last attempt, early last month, nearly succeeded.

The Kremlin at once flew Beria secretly to Syktyokar, capital of the Komi Republic, on Sept. 15, and then moved him by road to Seregowsk.

A "state of alarm" with a 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew, was declared a fortnight ago in the whole of the Komi Republic, which has a population of 350,000. Public transport and communications were taken over by the Red army, and all travel to the area was banned.

NINE OCCUPANTS of the jail—Red army generals and Soviet officials—were moved to make room for Beria, now the world's most closely guarded prisoner.

Rumors that he had escaped and was hiding "somewhere in the West" were spread deliberately by the Kremlin. It ordered its agents to spread rumors in the West that Beria had turned up in half a dozen places, ranging from India, Spain, and Argentina to Indonesia and Japan. The aim was to discredit western reports by later proving that he was still in Soviet custody.

That Russia is getting ready to spring a "Beria bombshell" is assumed here from the fact that Moscow officials have recently told neutral diplomats that Beria's trial—probably in secret—will take place soon and will reveal "the aggressive intentions of Britain and the U. S."

Wedding Talk Gets LaRosa More Trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Julius

La Rosa says he hopes to marry attractive Dorothy McGuire, but her father insists the whole affair is "just publicity—just lies."

Efforts to obtain comment from Miss McGuire—a member of the cast of the Arthur Godfrey radio and television program, from which La Rosa was fired last week—were unavailing.

The matter of a La Rosa-McGuire romance was brought up anew yesterday by La Rosa, who said in an interview that Miss McGuire was the only girl he had in a report reviewing the situation. However, she was not mentioned in the report. He said he was working on legal problems to be worked out.

La Rosa, 23, is a Roman Catholic, about 5'10" tall, and is not married.

Moreover, she is still married to a serviceman, Sgt. John Brown, who is now in Korea. Her mother is a minister, the Rev. Lillie McGuire, of Miami, Ohio.

The Brooklyn-born La Rosa said he had been conferring with a priest on his problem, but declined to say whether he would wed without approval of his church.

In Miami last night, Miss McGuire's parents said reports of a marriage for their daughter and La Rosa are lies. They added that she is just as aggravated in New York as we are.

Asa B. McGuire, the entertainer's father, said Dorothy and her soldier husband are "happily married." McGuire quoted his wife as saying talk of a romance with La Rosa is "all a mistake." However, he said that he and Mrs. McGuire resigned as pastor of Miami's First Church of God last year after her daughter went to New York.

Drop in Farm Income Seen

Figure for '53 May Be Billion Under '52

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prospects are that the nation's farmers will wind up 1953 with a total net income one billion dollars under that of 1952, the Agriculture Department said today.

It estimated the farmers' net income for the year at 12½ billion dollars, or 7 per cent below last year's.

The gross farm income of farmers for 1953, the department said, is about 4 per cent under last year's, but total production expenses are down about 2 per cent, thus leaving the farmers a net loss of about a billion dollars from last year.

For next year, the department said, the realized net income is a minister, the Rev. Lillie McGuire, of Miami, Ohio.

Realized gross income includes cash receipts from marketing of farm products, government payments to farmers, the value of the rental value of farm dwellings.

The department said cash receipts from farm products in 1953 should total about $31,200,000,000, or 4 per cent under 1952.

This drop, in the face of a record high volume of farm marketings, is due to considerably lower prices, the report said.

400 Christian Leaders Hear Bishop Speak

CLEVELAND (AP)—Isolationism—turning our backs on other nations—goes "against the grain" of God's will, a keynote speaker today told 400 Christian leaders gathered to appraise United States foreign policy.

The declaration was part of the keynote message in which Episcopal Bishop Angus Dun of Washington, D. C., summarized views of a special interchurch commission.

He said the Christian faith provides no "clear cut blueprints" to solve world problems, but "it does remind us that we are placed in an order of moral interdependence by God."

And, he added, "... we go against the grain of his order when we turn our backs on the world community or are tempted to use other people instead of serving them."

The address was prepared for 400 Christian laymen and clergymen, picked by 30 denominations to study world issues facing America—with the Bible as a yardstick.

Bishop Dun said "powerful forces" seek to lead this country into "withdrawal and more exclusively nationalistic policies" or "compel cooperation by use of our economic power."

As Christians, he added, "we are called to remind the nation that the who loathes his life shall find it."

This advice from Jesus, he suggested, may well be applied to nations. Thus, he said, the nation serving the "whole human community"—instead of narrow self-interests—actually serves its own well-being.

The Washington bishop also assailed "political demagoguery" which in the name of "Americanism" seeks to exploit fear, foment suspicion, bypass due process of law and stifle differences of opinion.

The same thesis was voiced yesterday by other delegates in the opening stages of the week-long National Conference of the Churches and World Order.

Mouse Gnawing Match Causes Fire in Ashley

Special to The Star

ASHLEY — Fire in a closet at the home of Earl Jenkins in Ashley Saturday afternoon was believed caused by mice gnawing on a match in a suit pocket in the closet.

The fire was discovered about 3 p.m. by Mrs. Jenkins when she smelled smoke after going upstairs to do some work. She opened the closet door and the fire began to burn, after apparently smoldering for some time. They believe the mice were attracted there by some candy also in the suit pocket.

Three wool suits belonging to Mr. Jenkins were burned along with some work clothes, and other clothing was damaged by smoke. The property was covered by insurance but no estimate of the damage could be made.

The Ashley fire department extinguished the fire with hand equipment.

Missing Midshipman Is Sought at Annapolis

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—A search continued today for a young New Jersey midshipman who disappeared from the Naval Academy a week ago.

Academy officials said William Norman Dietch, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip W. Dietch of Fairlawn, N. J., disappeared from the hospital here where he had been admitted for a bronchitis condition which in the name of "Americanism" seeks to exploit fear, foment suspicion, bypass due process of law and stifle differences of opinion.

Ohio Grange Debates Price Support Policy

CLEVELAND (AP)—The question of a farm price support policy comes before the Ohio Grange today from its Agriculture Committee.

Whatever its recommendations—and the committee could take a specific stand on the Eisenhower administration's farm program—the master of the Ohio Grange predicts the proposals will "get a going over when presented to the delegates."

The state master, Byron Frederick of Summit County, gave a summary of Ohio farm sentiment on price controls and supports in his annual report yesterday.

He did it by relating how the state's 904 granges, representing 168,000 members, responded to a survey by the National Grange.

Half of the Ohio granges took part in the survey, and Frederick summarized their responses by saying about 75 per cent of those participating favor "some" type of government controls, but "desire to get our government out of agriculture as soon as possible."

Frederick said 58 per cent listed present production and pricing policies as unsatisfactory.

In summary form, the Ohio response to the national survey included the following results:

Price supports—40 per cent were against high rigid price guarantees, and there was a split vote on flexible price supports; there was a split vote on whether to favor the acreage and marketing controls in the present program of straight 90 per cent price guarantees for six basic crops; 67 per cent voted for expanded use of farm cooperatives as a solution to the farm program.

Conservation—56 per cent were for government payments to achieve more permanent soil conservation practices; 72 per cent were against any forced program of conservation; 62 per cent felt it was the joint responsibility of the farmer and the government to maintain productivity of the soil.

Apple Deep-Dish Pie With Cream Is Delicious

Sometimes a small amount of imagination, applied at the right time and place, makes the difference between good and superb. Here is an illustration. Deep-dish apple pie, as everyone knows, is good—but when it comes from the oven, lightly chop in the crust and

Harding and St. Mary Mentioned in Ohio Grid Poll

Massillon-Warren Struggle Friday Could Decide Title

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The No. 1 spot in the state high school football ratings goes on the block Friday night in Massillon's stadium—some 20,000 fans will watch the terrific Tigers, five time state champs and gunning for their sixth straight win play host to Warren's Panthers.

Massillon is first and Warren second in the weeks' poll of 34 sports editors the Panthers of Corch Chuck Ruffe scouting around Portsmouth into the runner-up spot.

Last week Massillon knocked Mansfield out of the top 10 with a 41-7 rout. And Warren ousted Cleveland Benedictine from among the elite 34-13 ending Benedictine's 15 game winning streak.

Back in 1951 Massillon, boasting a 20-game victory stretch, was beaten 19-13 by Warren. Since then the Tigers have constructed a 19 game victory skein. In the last nine seasons Massillon has won 5 lost 3 and tied 1 with the Panthers—its poorest showing against any foe over that period.

The weekly poll had a new look today as Warren, Dayton Chaminade and unscathed New Philadelphia moved up. Portsmouth and Cincinnati Purcell skidded a notch. Massillon and Middletown hung on to their ratings of last week and three newcomers replaced three defeated teams.

The newcomers, all making their first appearance of the year in the top bracket, are Fremont Ross, Youngstown Ursuline and St. Mary's Memorial in the last three places. Ursuline moved in by ousting Youngstown East 20-6.

Of the teams in the top 10 all have won six straight except Middletown and Youngstown Ursuline, which have dropped one.

The scoring records: Massillon 243-40, Warren 187-58, Portsmouth 191-35, Dayton Chaminade 204-39, Cincinnati Purcell 168-38, New Philadelphia 168-0, Middletown 134-40, Fremont Ross 239-26, Youngstown Ursuline 93-44, St. Mary's Memorial 282-33.

Family affair: Waldo in Marion County has a six man team for the first time Friday the club won its 51st game.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Upper Sandusky's two candidates for All-Ohio grid honors really had themselves a field day Friday as the Rams romped by state meet.

SHORT

Both are seniors and playing their third year of varsity action. They serve as co-captains of the club. Quail, who has been the backfield of the Rams' defense all season, started the touchdown parade when he blocked a punt early in the first period. He crashed through the line at the 21 and fell on the ball in the end zone for a six-pointer.

Kuenzli's offensive performance stole the show. He crossed the goal line six times and kicked five extra points for a total of 41 markers. The performance raised his season scoring total to 144 points coming from 20 touchdowns and 24 extra points.

He went into the Friday night game with a 10-5 average after the 971 yards in 92 attempts. His biggest total was 236 yards in 12 carries against Mifflin in the opener. He ended the lowest total was against Wilford when he was held to 115 yards in 17 carries for an average of 6.7 yards.

He runs, kicks and passes out of a halfback slot and calls the signals. Quail is the perfect running mate for the Rams' top back. Playing in the line on offense or backing it up as a defender, the rugged guard manages to come up with nearly half the tackles. His specialty is stripping the interference from in front of opposing ball carriers.

The 175 pound Quail is also a standout offensively. He can open holes through the middle but all season has been utilizing his speed in pulling from the line and leading Kuenzli downfield on his scoring jaunts.

The two had a fight in the ring and finished it in the basement which had to be busted up by the police.

Cross Country Team Set for District Meet

Coach Ken Somerlot was hoping today that two of his best cross country runners will be in shape for the Northwest district cross country meet Saturday morning.

at O'Leary Park in Toledo. The top two teams there qualify for the state meet.

Co-captain Hugh Kinnamon and Allen Green have just recovered from colds and Ken will see if they are in good shape when the cross country team runs with Worthington here today.

Ken said nine boys will make the trip to Toledo. His five top runners are Kinnamon, Green, Gene Guard, Keith Monroe, Dick Bolinger and Ben Quail, com-Domer. He will select four other talents on the basis of their appearance against Worthington.

The locals won the Central District cross country meet title the past four years and were state champions last year. However, this year they are competing in a new district. The change was made because Harding's competition was mostly in the new district.

Ken said in his knowledge Toledo Scott White, Whitmer and Clay Fremont and Mansfield would be in the district meet. Mansfield is picked to win, according to Ken, who said Waldo is the best in Toledo.

Harding's string of 31 straight cross country dual meet wins was snapped in the first meet of the season this year by Worthington.

It was the locals' first loss since 1948. Now 53 for the campaign, the locals have lost to Worthington, Columbus West and Mansfield, three of the better teams in the state. But one of their wins was over Springfield, a team which finished fourth in the state last year and which has all seven of its men back. Ken said Springfield, which won the Bowling Green Relays, is the team to beat this year.

The district meet is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday and Ken and Bob Ferguson, adult helper will drive the boys and a manager to Toledo Friday afternoon. The locals will work out at the O'Leary Park course that afternoon.

Harding's last dual meet of the season is with Mansfield here next Tuesday. The state meet follows and then comes the Ohio AAU meet in Columbus on Armistice Day, Nov. 11. Harding has taken that meet title since its beginning two years ago.

Barons Share Third Place in Hockey Chase

CINCINNATI (AP)—The International Hockey League's pace-setters Toledo and Troy tangled this week.

at the Pleasant for the Marion County Baseball League title after Morral routed Prospect 14-4 behind a home-run barrage Monday at the Pleasant field.

The game was a replay of a 6-6 play-off game Monday night called by darkness. While Junior Bell was holding the losers to five hits his mates were clubbing out 15 hits including six homers.

Facing the attack, all with a homer and single were Ted Murphy, John Craycraft, Jim Shifflet, Junior Bell and Manfred Saxton. Clyde Neal in addition to a homer and single, also punched out a double.

Hansen had a triple and Rodgers a double for the losers. Four of Morral's six home runs came in an eight-run fifth inning. Each came after a man had reached base.

Charles Rice was the Morral catcher. Tom Hickman, Bob Rodgers, Bruce Emery and Bob Emery all were on the mound for Prospect with Bruce Emery and Rodgers also working behind the plate.

The winner of the Third game between Morral and Green Camp will qualify for the district championship. The play-off game was held at the Green Camp. The play-off game was held at the Green Camp.

They are Hap Applegett, Lloyd Johnson, Junior Fields, Gene Malt, Red Clark, Roy Snyder and Don Anderson. In each of the first two games the low score man will drop out to allow Snyder and Anderson to bowl.

The visitors are former national match game champs and present ABC team champs for the second year.

Fights Last Night

BROOKLYN — Joey Giardello 158½, Philadelphia opponent Walter Cartier, 16 New York, 10 years.

The district meet is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday and Ken and Bob Ferguson, adult helper will drive the boys and a manager to Toledo Friday afternoon. The locals will work out at the O'Leary Park course that afternoon.

Harding's last dual meet of the season is with Mansfield here next Tuesday. The state meet follows and then comes the Ohio AAU meet in Columbus on Armistice Day, Nov. 11. Harding has taken that meet title since its beginning two years ago.

Bucks Prepare For Wildcats' Runs, Passes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Coach Woody Hayes hopes his Ohio State Buckeyes will continue to improve Saturday as they meet a powerful Northwestern team hungry for its first conference win of the season.

Hayes says the Bucks showed improvement both in the offensive and defensive departments last week against Wisconsin. He indicated even more improvement may be required to beat Northwestern.

While losing two conference games this year the Wildcats have displayed considerable power on the ground and in the air. They have outgained Ohio State 1070 yards to 969 on the ground and 797 to 602 in the air—a total of 1,867 against 1,571.

Says Hayes: "This looks like an even ball game. This Northwestern team will run and pass you crazy. I don't know whether we can stop 'em or not."

The last two contests with Northwestern have been close ones for Ohio State. In 51 a field goal by Vic Janowicz was the lone score as Ohio turned back Northwestern 3-0. Last season Northwestern held a 21-7 edge when the Bucks struck late in the last quarter to tie the score then snatched victory from the Wildcats with a field goal.

Those two three-point wins were eclipsed, however, by the 1947 game here. Northwestern held a 6-0 edge when the final gun sounded but had 12 men on the field when the final play started. The Bucks got another chance. Northwestern intercepted a pass in its end zone to halt another Ohio threat. On the next play Ohio passed into the end zone to tie it at 6-6.

Baseball Loop Slates Title Playoff Game

MORRAL and Green Camp were awaiting their baseball date Thursday at Pleasant for the Marion County Baseball League title after Morral routed Prospect 14-4 behind a home-run barrage Monday at the Pleasant field.

The game was a replay of a 6-6 play-off game Monday night called by darkness. While Junior Bell was holding the losers to five hits his mates were clubbing out 15 hits including six homers.

Facing the attack, all with a homer and single were Ted Murphy, John Craycraft, Jim Shifflet, Junior Bell and Manfred Saxton. Clyde Neal in addition to a homer and single, also punched out a double.

Hansen had a triple and Rodgers a double for the losers. Four of Morral's six home runs came in an eight-run fifth inning. Each came after a man had reached base.

Charles Rice was the Morral catcher. Tom Hickman, Bob Rodgers, Bruce Emery and Bob Emery all were on the mound for Prospect with Bruce Emery and Rodgers also working behind the plate.

The winner of the Third game between Morral and Green Camp will qualify for the district championship. The play-off game was held at the Green Camp. The play-off game was held at the Green Camp.

They are Hap Applegett, Lloyd Johnson, Junior Fields, Gene Malt, Red Clark, Roy Snyder and Don Anderson. In each of the first two games the low score man will drop out to allow Snyder and Anderson to bowl.

The visitors are former national match game champs and present ABC team champs for the second year.

Kluszewski, Woodling Repeat

NEW YORK (AP)—First baseman second in 1952 made one miscue

Ted Kluszewski of the Cincinnati Reds and outfielder Gene Woodling of the New York Yankees were a couple of defensive standouts for the past few seasons, were up to their old tricks again in 1953.

For the third straight year Kluszewski topped the National League first basemen in fielding with a .985 average. Associated Press statistics disclosed today the husky southpaw made only seven errors in 1,351 chances to better his 991 average of a year ago by two points.

Woodling maintained his supremacy by tying for the lead among American League outfielders with Chicago's Sam Mele each at .996. In 1951 Woodling also shared the top spot but he was the undisputed leader a year ago with .996.

Cooks Turning To Washington For Food Data

Housewives Check on Nutritive Values of Processed Products

WASHINGTON (UP) — Calorie-conscious housewives, who helped make nutrition the expanding science of the home economics field, have a new kitchen worry. By the thousands they want to know if they are serving up the same vitamins and nutrients in the newly prepared and processed foods as they did before industry moved into their kitchens. Their inquiries come to the Agriculture Department's Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, which describes as "spectacular" the steady rise in the home-maker's use of ready-mixes, powdered, pre-cooked and frozen foods. The public still buys about eight pounds of canned vegetables to each pound of frozen variety. But per capita consumption of frozen vegetables is expected to hit a record 5 1/2 pounds per person this year—a whopping 900,000,000 pound total.

Most of the housewives queries have been concerning frozen concentrated orange juice which each year has sky-rocketed in sales to new highs. The department's answer is that the amount of vitamins in the same for fresh or frozen juice. Its food experts say food treated with heat before packaging loses nutrients in some cases. In others there is a gain, and in still others no one knows. In any case, they say, there's not much loss in nutritive count in prepared foods bought to save labor. As one expert put it, the only nutritive value on their dining table are those who prepare foods properly from their own gardens. Fresh vegetables bought in the corner grocery sometimes lose food value in the shipping process, just as some do in freezing. "At this stage we expect it all balances out," he said.

U. S. farmers are using more than 4,200,000 tractors, although they were using only about 1,700,000 before World War II.
